

Carlos Sandoval Machado

Morgantown, WV | ccs00038@mix.wvu.edu | linkedin.com/in/carlossandoval99

Education

West Virginia University, Morgantown, WV Expected May 2028
Ph.D. in Economics, Concentration in Monetary Economics
West Virginia University, Morgantown, WV May 2026
M.A. in Economics
George Mason University, Fairfax, VA December 2022
B.S. in Economics, Magna Cum Laude

Research Experience

The Role of Cryptocurrency in the Quantity Theory of Money, with Scott Schuh Research in Progress

- Examine the role of cryptocurrency as a medium of exchange.

Digital Payment Adoption and Institutional Trust: Evidence from India Working Paper

- Conduct empirical research on digital payment adoption and institutional trust using district-level data and applied econometric methods.

The Effect of the Ring of Steel on London's Housing Market Under Review

- Analyze the effect of a major security intervention on housing prices using quasi-experimental econometric methods.

Professional Experience

West Virginia University, Morgantown, WV August 2024 – Present
Graduate Teaching Assistant

- Support instruction in undergraduate macroeconomics, microeconomics, and introductory economics.
- Serve as Teaching Assistant for Ph.D.-level Advanced Macroeconomic Theory; coordinate assessments, grade assignments and exams, and lead review sessions.

Behavioral Economics and Situational Testing (BEAST) Lab August 2025 – June 2026
Undergraduate Research Mentor, West Virginia University

- Mentor an undergraduate research assistant through the development of an independent research project and participate in collaborative research on cryptocurrency and institutions.

Cato Institute, Washington, D.C. August – December 2023
Research Intern

- Contributed to research and public policy projects and produced analytical content for HumanProgress.org.
- Conducted literature reviews, prepared research summaries, and assisted with data analysis and technical report writing.

Sunwater Institute, North Bethesda, MD June – August 2023
Congressional Reform Program Intern

- Conducted research on institutional reform and governance and prepared research memoranda and policy analysis documents.
- Assisted with research projects focused on legislative processes and institutional design.

Technical Skills

Software: R, Stata, Microsoft Excel, L^AT_EX
Methods: Econometrics, Time Series Analysis, Data Analysis, Applied Microeconometrics